SUSTAINABILITY IN OUR OPERATIONS:

Adeli Kenya Safaris is highly conscious of the necessity to protect nature and to make sure that the local community benefits from tourism as well.

We are guided by a new-age business concept called the 'triple bottom line', meaning that every decision Adeli Kenya Safaris makes must fit 3 criteria: be healthy for the environment, good for its workers, and beneficial for the local community.

Above all, we want to convey this to our guests. We support and practice Ecotourism with the intent to conserve the balance of this region for future generations, without denying the joy of the unexpected.

Traveling is the best way to explore the magic of our world. Traveling is the best way to experience cultures.

However, damage and waste occur because of inappropriate behaviors of travelers and safari /travel operators. We want to practice and 'preach' tourism that empowers local communities & protects the planet.

It's no secret that Good Planets are hard to come by that's why in all our operations we put a lot of emphasis on Ecotourism & Responsible travel to ensure maximum experience with minimum negative impact.

When your trip benefits others, you gain too. Our safari tours support communities and preserve nature – which helps you get closer to both.
